

<< Prev Next >>

From: J Dent Res. 2010 March; 89\(3\): 219–229.

doi: 10.1177/0022034509359125

Copyright/License ▶ Request permission to reuse

Figure 1.

The effects of stress on wound healing. Stress-impaired wound healing is mediated primarily through the hypothalamic-pituitary-adrenal, sympathetic-adrenal medullary axes, and psychological-response-induced unhealthy behaviors.

Images in this article

Click on the image to see a larger version.